Nine Named To Newly Created Motor Fuel Metering and Quality Advisory Board

AUSTIN – Nine people have been named to the Texas Department of Licensing and Regulation’s new Motor Fuel Metering and Quality Advisory Board. The advisory board will provide input, advice and recommendations to TDLR about motor fuel quality and metering issues. Members will serve staggered, six-year terms on the board.

“We’re pleased to have such a great group of people to help advise TDLR about the needs of the motor fuels industry, since the industry does so much to drive the Texas economy,” said Brian E. Francis, TDLR executive director. “The advisory board will have a lot of work to do, and we’re looking forward to working with them.”

The members of the new board are:

- Jason Harris of Lake Jackson. Harris, who is the director of environmental, health and safety for Buc-ee’s, will serve as the board’s presiding officer. On the board, he will represent licensed dealers with more than 5,000 metering devices.
- Keesha Esqueda of Wichita. Esqueda works for Flint Hills Resources and will represent suppliers.
- Carlos A. Garza of Edinburg. Garza works for La Lomita Inc. and will represent licensed dealers with fewer than 501 metering devices.
- Terry Harrah of Temple. Harrah works for CEFCO and will represent licensed dealers with more than 1,000 but fewer than 5,000 metering devices.
- Terry Maxey of Uvalde. Maxey works for Maxey Energy Company and will serve as a licensed representative of a wholesaler or distributor.
- Wes Nance of San Antonio. Nance works for JF Petroleum Group and will represent licensed representatives of a service company.
- Seth Stephens of Floydada. Stephens works for Producers Cooperative Elevator and will represent licensed dealers.
- Adam Thompson of Watauga. Thompson works for Meter Calibration Solutions and will represent licensed representatives of a service company.
- Nathan Winkelmann of Brenham. Winkelmann will serve as a public member of the board.
